By THOMAS G. REES
CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) —
Samuel H. Sheppard's murder trial goes to the jury of seven men and five women today.
The jurors, sequestered since testimony started Nov. 1, get their charge from Common Pleas Judge Francis J. Talty, then attempt to reach a verdict in the 12-year-old case. Sheppard is charged with second-degree murder in the bludgeon slaying of his first wife, Marilyn, in her bedroom July 4, 1954.
The packed courtroom listened intently to closing arguments Tuesday in the retrial which began Oct. 24.
Prosecutor John T. Corrigan spent only 24 minutes on his closing argument. He told jurors he was confident they would: "Bring back a verdict consistent with the facts of this case. A verdict that would tell

Sam Sheppard he can't hide from the truth and tell the other would-be Sam Sheppards they also can't hide from the truth."
F. Lee Bailey, Sheppard's chief counsel, concluded his 70-minute argument by asking the jury "to put together a picture of what happened. And you can quickly say this man is and always was not guilty. I ask you to do it with dispatch."

Bailey said Marilyn was beaten to death by "someone with an awful hate, a hate this defendant could never have known."
Sheppard, 42-year-old former osteopath, was convicted of second-degree murder Dec. 21, 1954, after a nine-week trial. He served nine years in prison before being released on bond by a U.S. District Court in Dayton, Ohio, July 16, 1964.
The U.S. Supreme Court overturned the conviction in June and ordered that Sheppard be retried or freed. It said prejudicial news coverage denied Sheppard a fair trial.
At the first trial, Sheppard was charged with first-degree murder. The state asked for the death penalty and stressed Sheppard's affair with Susan Hayes, a former laboratory technician, a key state witness then who was not called for the retrial.

Faubus Saw Trouble for Trimble

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov.
Orval Faubus, saying he had sensed trouble coming, said Tuesday that Democratic politicians had not realized that Rep. J. W. Trimble, D-Ark., would be beaten.
The veteran representative, seeking his 12th term in Congress, had been a heavy favorite to defeat Republican John Paul Hammerschmidt in last week's general election.
But Hammerschmidt, a lumber dealer from Harrison, scored an upset victory.
Hammerschmidt campaigned diligently while Trimble spent most of his time in Washington and campaigned very little.
Faubus, in an interview Tuesday, showed Ernest Valachovic of the Arkansas Gazette copies of two notes he sent Trimble, one in May and another in September.
Both notes expressed the view that Trimble faced serious competition.
Faubus said Trimble had thanked him for the notes but that his check of the district did not result in anything that should cause concern.
But Hammerschmidt won by 9,000 votes as the district helped give Arkansas its first Republican governor, Winthrop Rockefeller, since Reconstruction.
"I thought this tide for Rockefeller hurt Jim," said Faubus. "But every time I checked
I was told Jim wouldn't be affected by the Rockefeller trend."

Faubus said he was convinced that Hammerschmidt "didn't expect to win."
He said that anti-Lyndon Johnson sentiment, Trimble's support of the President's programs and his support of damning the Buffalo River had cost Trimble votes.
Faubus said he would not run against Trimble because they were good friends.
"I wouldn't want to be the one to beat him," Faubus said.
"I regard him highly as a public official and as a man. Most of all I consider him as a very good friend."

Prejudice Is Evidenced in Housing Bill

LITTLE ROCK (AP) Whitney
M. Young, executive director of the Urban League, says the defeat of the open housing bill in Congress proves that racial prejudice is growing in the United States.
Young, in Little Rock for a speech last Sunday night, told a news conference Monday that "anyone who opposed the open housing bill was either ignorant or prejudiced."
He also said that militant Negro leaders was "largely a creation of the white press and media rather than of Negroes."
"The white press is preoccupied with anything that's bi-zarric," Young said. "You built the Frankenstein. It's your responsibility."

Landslides Kill 11 in Ceylon

COLOMBO, Ceylon (AP) — Superstition and rain drove more villagers from their homes today in central Ceylon's tea-growing Haputale district where landslides have killed at least 11 persons.
As the rain continued, many villagers quit the valleys below the tea plantations. They believed an evil grouping of the planets would occur today or Thursday and bring more disaster.

Pilot Training Decision Due Very Soon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. Mc-Namara faces a series of key decisions in the next few weeks on Army, Navy, and Air Force requests for huge increases in pilot training next year.
The Army, now training 325 pilots a month, is seeking the biggest boost. It wants Defense Department approval to train 800 pilots monthly by June 1968.
To do so, sources said, it would have to add a fourth training base.
The Navy, now building up to a monthly training output of 180

Basore Says Charges Not True

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Joe Basore declared Tuesday that charges made by Republican Jerry Thomasson during the election campaign were filled with untruths.
Thomasson, the GOP nominee for attorney general, had charged that Basore and his father-in-law, John Cooper, had not paid some personal property taxes and also had not assessed the development of two retirement areas.

Some road equipment used in "Not only was it filled with untruths, but I couldn't defend myself because I was not a candidate," said Basore, who was the Democratic Party campaign chairman.
"I took the position that I couldn't get off into that, that I had to take the heat and stick to the campaign."
Thomasson had criticized the $1,153 in personal property taxes paid by the Cherokee Village Development Corp., owned by Cooper and Basore.
Basore said Thomasson neglected, however, to say that the corporation had paid nearly $24,000 in personal and real estate taxes this year.
Basore said that "a lot of the corporation's road equipment was assessed in Benton County," where he and Cooper have another real estate development, Bella Vista.
He said this was why Thomasson could not find it on the tax books in Sharp County.
Thomasson had also charged that Basore paid only $38.86 in personal property taxes. Basore said the reason was that he had lived in a rented house and that the majority of the furniture was rented too.
Basore said he moved into his new house this year after the January assessment period.

Rockefeller Concerned for Cities

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) —
Governor-elect Winthrop Rockefeller told the Arkansas Municipal League Tuesday that he had a great concern for the problems of municipalities.
Rockefeller said he would establish an open door policy between cities and the government's office when he becomes the state's chief executive in January.
He termed indirect tax limitations placed on cities as being a "travesty of justice."
Rockefeller said it was difficult for city officials to meet operating expenses under the present taxing system.
City officials have displayed some over-eagerness in budget planning, Rockefeller said.
"We need to sit down and put our heads together on budget requirements," he said.
Rockefeller also had words of praise for Gov. Orval Faubus, the man he replaces next year.
"I think the incumbent has done an amazing job in many ways," Rockefeller said, adding that Faubus had moved Arkansas forward to the point where it can progress.
The league, holding its 32nd

Wednesday, November 16, 1966 annual convention, adopted a resolution to ask the legislature to give mayors of first-class cities authority to appoint vice or assistant mayor for one-year term.
The league also said it will seek at least $10 million in additional turnback funds from the state general revenues.
Mayor John Beuker of St. Louis was elected league president in the afternoon session. Other officers include Alderman William Courtney of Wynn vice president of District
2; Mayor Austin Franks of Ph
Bluff, vice president of Distri
2; Mayor Ves Godley of Ma
nolia, vice president of Distri
3; Mayor Van Pennington
Paris, vice president of Distri
4; Mayor John Hardin of J sonville, vice president of Di trict 5; and Mayor Leslie Ca michael of Searcy, secretary.

Government units clashed with Communist terrorists in north ern Thailand, captured 14 them and inflicted heavy casualties on the others, Bangko press reports said today.
Eight government soldiers were wounded, the reports said.
Deputy Premier Prapha Charusathien said two of the

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Now that it seems certain that "Run, Buddy, Run," will come to an abrupt halt around the first of the year, it becomes a matter of academic interest to attempt to diagnose the series' fatal malady.

The short-lived CBS series has a lot in its favor. There is Jack Sheldon, in the title role, for one thing. He first survived the unfortunate "Cara Williams Show." In playing a jive-talking musician, he impressed CBS enough to cast him in another series.

Sheldon was talked about in Hollywood earlier this year as "a new Buddy Hackett." As Buddy Overstreet, a scared, naive, nice guy pursued by a murder-minded crime syndicate, Sheldon managed comedy sequences like a veteran and even achieved some characterization. Even if the show stops, Sheldon surely will run further.

Probably the real killers of "Run, Buddy, Run" are not the script writers but a classic Western, "The Iron Horse" and a comedy-fantasy, "I Dream of Jeannie" on the other networks.

Another of this season's losers, NBC's "Roger Miller Show" not only encountered some of the toughest competition of any show in any schedule, but also suffered because it is a variety show set in an early-evening time period when comedy and adventure shows reign supreme.

Miller, with only a half hour, has no time to fool around. Monday night his guest star, Bobby Darin, went right to work and sang a number of songs. Miller played and sang a bit and the Doodletown Pipers had one number. The setting was handsome, the production was good and the performances were professional. It is just that it is opposite the unconquerable "Lucy Show" and the season's one real new hit, "Rat Patrol." Many programs much worse than "Run, Buddy, Run" and "The Roger Miller Show" have survived for second and third seasons.

It was at the urging of Sarah Hale that President Lincoln first made Thanksgiving Day a national holiday.

HOPE (ARK) STAR, Printed by Offset Wedding Vows Are Repeated

MR. & MRS. JIMMY D. WILSON

The Monadock Congregational Church of Colebrook, New Hampshire was the setting for the wedding of Ella Ann Dion to Jimmy D. Wilson on October 22. The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Helen Lyman. Her shoulder length veil was attached to a headpiece, trimmed with crystals. She carried a bouquet of white roses. The old traditional of something old, new, borrowed, blue and a six pence in her shoe was used. Her only jewelry being a white gold cross necklace centered with a diamond which was a gift of the groom.

Serving the groom as best man was Jimmy Miller of River Mass., Richard Tirkpak of Waterbury, Conn., brothers-in-law of the groom, and Steve Ohtinicky of Terryville, Conn.

For her daughter's wedding the mother chose a three piece beige lace dress with matching accessories and her corsage was a green cyndellum orchid.

The groom's mother wore a two piece brown knit dress and her corsage was beige cyndellum orchid.

The church was decorated with Beauty Baskets of white gladioli and carnations with canelabras at the altar where the couple knelt for their vows. The wedding music was served to the 100 guests after they were served a dinner in honor of the newly married couple.

Among the guests were relatives and friends from New Hampshire, Vermont, Maine, Connecticut, Massachusetts, Arkansas and Canada.

For her going away ensemble the bride wore a two piece suit of blue and green with brown accessories. She planned the white rose corsage from her bouquet to her shoulder. After a two week honeymoon in Canada, the bride and groom will be at home in South Boston, Mass.

This Rockefeller Gets a Divorce

NEW YORK (AP) — Ann Rockefeller Pierson, 32, daughter of New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, has obtained a divorce in Juarez, Mexico, from the Rev. Robert L. Pierson on grounds of incompatibility of temperament.

Mrs. Pierson and her 40-year-old husband, who is rector of St. Barnabas Episcopal church in Newark, N.J., and had participated in civil rights marches in the South, had been separated since September 1965. They were married June 25, 1955.

YOUTH ASKED FOR IT!

This column is for young people their problems and pleasures, their troubles and fun. As with the rest of Helen Help US!, it welcomes laughs but won't dodge a serious question with a brush-off.

Send your teenage questions to Helen Help US!, this newspaper.

HAND HIM A CLOTHES HANGER

Dear Helen: We have been happily married for a year. My husband is a fine man with a good future. However, he has a habit that annoys me. Though he is very meticulous about some things, he won't hang up his clothes.

This is very exasperating to me as I have a full-time job in addition to housework. A lot of other wives have this problem. Can you help us? — WONDER-ING

Dear Won: I'll get female static, but here's my view: Picking up after a normally forgetful man should take not more than 15 minutes a day. And somehow this valet service from a wife makes him feel like a king — perhaps he still suffers from the "enforced neatness syndrome" dealt out at home and in the Service; or maybe he just wants to feel married and cared-for.

Try handing him a hanger while you two are getting out of your office clothes, and you'll be surprised how often he uses it. — H.

Dear Helen: Regarding the letter from the "wives" concerning "Sex Kittens." Did they ever stop to think it takes two? I would say their biggest worry is not this 16-year-old girl in a bikini, but their very own husbands.

I really don't think normal men make passes at an overdeveloped teenager. True she should be in the custody of her parents, but it sounds as if the husbands should be put in the custody of their wives!

Those gals are worrying about the wrong party! — NORMAL WIFE

Dear Wife: True remember the old saying "Opportunity makes the thief." — H.

Dear Helen: I don't hate my husband or anything like that. We've had 13 wonderful happy years of marriage and we look forward to many more.

But the way I have been feeling, I wonder if I may be sick in my mind. I've always been a devout Christian, but lately I have begun to question the will of God. When I heard of children being born to parents who don't want them, mistreat them; give them away, I wonder at a God who allows such things. It seems so unfair, the cruelty to helpless children.

We are not able to have children — no apparent reason the doctors say, but we, who want our own so badly, are barren. We have applied at an adoption agency, but somehow a woman always wants to give the man she loves a part of herself.

Will my loss of faith hurt our chances to adopt a baby? I can't help feeling bitter and resentful I've drifted far from my church and even talks with my minister have failed to get through to me. The way I have been acting is hurting my husband who hasn't taken it this badly. But somehow I can't stop—QUESTIONING GOD

Dear Questioning: I think your loss of faith is only temporary, and when you face the truth about yourself, it will come back stronger than ever.

The truth? Well, I'm guessing again, but see if this comes close: Down deep, you aren't questioning God for His "cruelty to helpless children." Rather, you're BLAMING Him because He hasn't made your life completely perfect. You're like the child surrounded by lovely gifts who says "I hate Christmas!" because she didn't get a puppy. You have a large case of self-pity and you're taking it out on God. Why not TALK it out with Him, instead?

(At this point, you may not agree with me, but I'll bet your husband does.) — H.

NOTE TO READERS: I know many of you will want to answer the letter from "Questioning God," and I know from past experience that many of your thoughts will be extremely helpful. If you'll enclose a stamped envelope with each of your letters, I'll forward them to her. — H.

Thinks Irish Will Beat Michigan S.

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
NEW YORK (AP) — Notre Dame will defeat Michigan State Saturday in college football's Game of the Decade — and the Irish defense will be responsible.

The names of the Notre Dame passing combination of Terry Hanratty to Jim Seymour plus the two running backs, Nick Eddy and Larry Conjar, virtually have become household names during the season with its eight straight victories.

But who knows the names of the defensive unit that blanked five of those opponents and allowed the other three foes only a total of four touchdowns?

This is the initial Notre Dame foursome which will be there to greet any Michigan State ball carrier: Kevin Hardy, 270 pounds, and Pete Duranko, 240, at the tackles, and Allen Page, 240, and Tom Rhoads, 220, at ends.

Michigan State's defense is keyed to Bubba Smith, the end who towers 6-7 and weighs 290. Sometimes he shifts to middle guard but no matter where he is, the opposition doesn't try to annoy him. The Spartan attack, which has scored the points that has meant nine successive triumphs, has Bob Apisa doing the heavy blasting, Clinton Jones and Dwight Lee sweeping the ends, and Jim Raye doing the throwing.

But it will be the defense that decides.

Here's how the other major battles Saturday look:

UCLA over Southern California: The tension for this one, which will decide the Pacific 8 Rose Bowl representative, has been building up since a year ago when UCLA squeaked past the Trojans, 20-14. Southern Cal's vaunted defense, which yielded only 49 points in eight games, meets its master in the Bruins' Gary Beban.

Injury Is Fatal to Pork Player

HOUSTON (AP) — Claude Smith, defensive tackle on the University of Arkansas football team, died Tuesday in Methodist Hospital.

He was taken to the hospital Oct. 29 shortly after he collapsed in the dressing room following the Arkansas-Texas A&M game in College Station, Tex.

A hospital spokesman said Smith died "of complications caused by head injuries."

Arkansas coaches said he played only briefly in the A&M game and films showed no blow on the head that could have caused the injury.

Player's Kick Probably Saved Son's Life

By JACK DONOVAN
DALLAS (AP) — Dallas Cowboys' kicker Danny Villanueva, who admits, "This has not been one of my better seasons," probably kicked the most important field goal of his life last Sunday.

The kick, from the Washington 20-yard line with 15 seconds to play, gave Dallas a 31-30 victory. It possibly saved the life of his 3-year-old son Jimmy.

While Papa Villanueva was 1,400 miles away in Washington playing football, Jimmy had visited a friend in the apartment complex where Danny, his wife Myrna, and their two sons live.

After the game Jimmy was running home and was so excited about his father winning the game that he fell into a swimming pool. A neighbor, Robert Somerell, saw the boy fall, jumped into six feet of water and rescued Jimmy.

"I don't know what would have happened if I had missed that field goal," Villanueva said today. "It is so ironic. I had kicked a field goal that won a game."

"A terrific roar went up in the apartment house when the game was over and he (Somerell) went to the door to go outside and saw my boy falling in the pool."

Villanueva, 29, in his seventh year in the National Football League, said the game-winning kick was the "finest hour of my career. The team needed it and the town needed it. I never kicked a bigger one."

"This has not been one of my better seasons. I'm not hitting the ball as well as I should have. This field goal just might do wonders for me."

Villanueva, who came to the Cowboys last season in a trade with the Los Angeles Rams, added that the moment he went on the field to try the three-pointer "I had an awful feeling I just can't describe."

"I had it in my power to save or destroy a season. It was a season for a whole town. I never saw a town more emotionally involved in a team than Dallas."

The Cowboys, 1½ games behind Eastern Division leader St. Louis and needing the victory to stay in contention, were met by an estimated 3,000 persons at the airport when they arrived home Sunday night.

Thinks 76ers to Have It This Year

NEW YORK (AP) — Hal Greer has been practicing six years to give Coach Alex Hannum a proper thank you. Now, with some help from his Philadelphia 76er teammates, he thinks he has it.

"We beat Boston by only one game last year, but lost the playoffs," Greer says. "We figure we ought to win it by seven games this season and take the playoffs, too."

If Greer is right, and the 76ers do end the Celtics' eight-year reign over the National Basketball Association, what better thank you could Hannum get?

The way Greer and his teammates looked Tuesday night and thus far this season, Greer's thoughts might come as true as his jump shot.

The 76er guard, who got his first starting chance in the NBA from Hannum six years ago with Syracuse, dropped in 33 points as Philadelphia raced to a 92-60 lead and then watched reserves hang on for a 113-109 victory over the New York Knicks.

In the only other game, at St. Louis, the Hawks pulled away from Chicago in the final minutes for a 107-99 victory be-

David Dickey Named Grid Back of Week

By ed SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer
Sophomore tailback David Dickey spent most of Arkansas' first six games as a bench warmer, but since then he's been hotter than the proverbial pistol.

Dickey fired a big shot last Saturday at Arkansas' prime football target — the Cotton Bowl — by leading the sixth-ranked Razorbacks to a 22-0 victory over Southern Methodist.

For his efforts — a Southwest Conference record 38 carries for 133 yards, including two last period touchdown plunges — the 6-foot-1, 204-pounder from Palestine, Tex., was named today as The Associated Press College Back of the Week.

"I'm surprised how well he has run the ball," Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles said of Dickey. "He makes it look as if we made a mistake in picking Bruce Maxwell the No. 1 tailback."

Maxwell pulled a hamstring muscle, and Dickey made his first start against Texas A&M Oct. 29, scoring four touchdowns in a 35-0 victory. He ran two more in a 31-20 defeat of Rice, and his pair against SMU gave him eight and the conference scoring lead.

Dickey's rushing yardage against SMU was 17 yards more than the Mustangs gained in 37 carries. The victory gave Arkansas a 5-1 conference record and made it the favorite for the host spot in the Cotton Bowl.

In another outstanding performance last Saturday, Sal Olivas, New Mexico State quarterback, completed 15 of 16 passes, including his first 14, for 238 yards and four TDs in a 47-12 victory over New Mexico. His incomplete pass was dropped.

Quarterback Jay Goolsby ran for 190 yards and two TDs and passed for 98 yards in leading The Citadel over Virginia Military 30-14, and Oscar Reed Jr. of Colorado State University scored three times and rushed for 194 yards in a 35-26 victory over West Texas State.

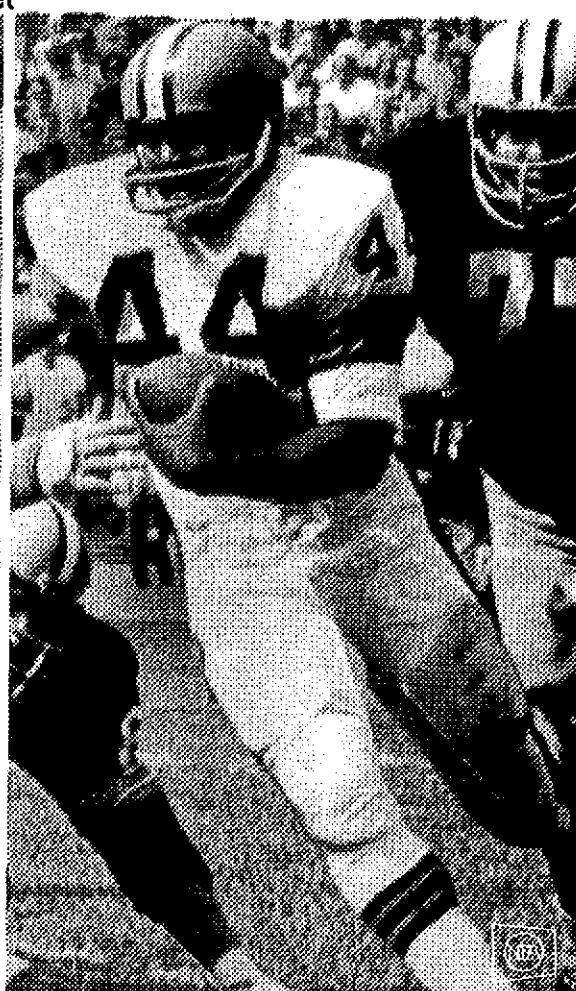

Others nominated: Quarterback Paul Brothers who led Oregon State past Washington 24-13 by passing for one touchdown and running for another, halfback Doug Cunningham of Mississippi for his perfect 10 to 10 upset of Tennessee, Bobby Duhan of Tulane for his work in a loss to Florida and Tom Beler for his defensive play in the Miami, Fla., victory over Pittsburgh.

Everyone Is Trying to Pick Winner

By JOE MOOSHIL

CHICAGO (AP)—Every football buff in the country is busy trying to figure who will win the Notre Dame-Michigan State football game Saturday but there are only two men who have first-hand knowledge.

They happen to be Alex Agase, Northwestern's coach, and Jack Mollenkopf, Purdue's coach.

Agase and Mollenkopf have the distinction and misfortune of being the only coaches who have faced both Michigan State and Notre Dame.

Naturally, neither Agase nor Mollenkopf risk picking a winner.

"Let's say the final score will be 15-14," Mollenkopf told the Chicago Football Writers Tuesday, "and you can pick your own winner."

"Notre Dame is deeper in personnel," said Mollenkopf "and Michigan State may have an edge in speed. Both defenses are great. I don't think either team can run against the other and must rely on passing. Notre Dame has shown better passing."

Agase feels there is no way to measure a game upon which so much is at stake.

"Throw all past performances out the window," said Agase. "You have to rate them even-temper and start from scratch. Coaches know one hundred per cent what their own team will attempt and ninety per cent what the opposition will try to do."

Oddly enough, Notre Dame and Michigan State had opposite experiences against the common rivals which both teams faced on successive weekends.

Notre Dame struggled to a 26-14 victory over Purdue and the following week blew Northwestern apart 35-7.

Michigan State ran into Purdue at midseason, piled up a 28-0 lead in the third quarter and coasted to a 41-20 victory. The following week the Spartans ran into a dogged Northwestern team and were hard pressed to put across a 22-0 decision in a game which was a lot closer than the score indicates.

back's neck.

There was no need to look for chalk diagrams on the blackboard, young crew-cut coaching assistants with clip boards or, for that matter, a football field or dirty sweat sock.

Instead, in dust-free, almost antiseptic surroundings, with temperatures at a constant 65 to 75 degrees, there was "The Monster."

The seven-unit $250,000 computer insatiably ate its way through stacks of scouting reports amid a galaxy of blinking lights, spinning magnetic tapes, clicking typewriters and indistinguishable sounds.

In preparation for a recent game with Oregon, the computer was fed 400 plays from the

Clemente Is Most Valuable in National

By MURRAY CHASS

NEW YORK (AP) — Roberto Clemente, flashy right fielder of the Pittsburgh Pirates, was named the National League's Most Valuable Player today, edging Los Angeles' Sandy Koufax by only 10 points.

Clemente, whose timely and explosive hitting helped the Pirates come close to winning the pennant, received one less first-place vote than 27-game winner Koufax but won on total points, 218 to 208. Clemente had eight votes for first, Koufax nine.

Koufax won the MVP award in 1963 and finished second to San Francisco's Willie Mays last year. Just two weeks ago the brilliant Dodger left-hander was named, for an unprecedented third time, the winner of the Cy Young Award as baseball's best pitcher.

Clemente, who batted .317, hit 29 homers and drove in 119 runs, was the only player named on all 20 ballots which were cast by two baseball writers in each league city. Koufax was named on all but one ballot, but even if he had drawn a second-place vote on that one he would have fallen one point short.

A first-place vote is worth 14 points, a second-place nine, a third-place eight and down to one for 10th place.

Clemente, 32 and a 12-year veteran, received eight votes for first, 10 for second and two for third. Koufax, who became a 20-game winner for the third time, collected nine votes for first, six for second, one for third, two for fourth and one for fifth.

Felipe Alou of Atlanta drew two first-place votes and finished fifth with 83 points while Philadelphia's Rich Allen got the other vote for first and placed fourth with 107. Mays had 111 for third.

Rounding out the first 10 are Juan Marichal, San Francisco, 74; Phil Regan, Los Angeles, 66; Hank Aaron, Atlanta, 57; Matty Alou, Pittsburgh, 37, and Pete Rose, Cincinnati, 31.

The award for Clemente comes in a year when he missed winning a third straight batting title and fourth over-all. His .317 average was fourth best in the league, but his 29 homers and 119 RBI were the most he's ever had in one season.

Clemente's performance was the primary reason the Pirates led the league for much of the season. They faltered near the end, were eliminated from contention on the next-to-the-last day of the season and finished in third place, three games out.

Despite the constant pain in his left arm, Koufax pitched the Dodgers to their second straight pennant. And for the second straight season he won the pennant-clinching game.

Ducks' early season games. Once placed on punch cards, about an hour task, "The Monster" needed only 60 minutes to digest the plays and print a complete scouting report.

This included the frequency of plays and formations, down and distance per play, whether from right or left hash mark, passes, touchdowns, two-point conversion tries, plays from inside their own and opponent's 20-yard line—and then refinements on all of these.

"It would take three coaches from 36 to 40 hours to do the same thing," said Paul Kemp, Arizona State backfield coach.

Battle of Behemoths

Egad, friends, now we come to the piece de resistance of the 1966 football season—the Fighting Irish of Notre Dame, where Harvard will entertain the Spartans of Michigan State, commanded by that fighting Irishman Duffy Daugherty.

Where will Dame Fortune cast her smile? On Hanratty and Eddy or Raye and Jones? On Seymour or Washington? On the rocklike defense of the Irish, with Kevin Hardy in the vanguard, or the rugged Spartan defenders spearheaded by Bubba (278) Smith? Jove, those lads must eat steak four times a day!

Needless to say, I have canceled all appointments for Saturday so that I can be in Spartan Stadium to witness this classic. You needn't bother to look for me in the stands because long ago I adopted—hak-kaff—the practice of traveling incognito and in disguise lest my status as a celebrity detract from the main attraction—be it a major political convention or headline sports event!

The winner? The Hoople System in a series of calculations too complicated to be explained here (Ed. Note: You can say that again, Major) has fingered the Irish to triumph by four points. Make it N.D. 28, Michigan St., 24.

And no sooner will the dust be settled at East Lansing, than 2,000 miles away a new cloud will rise over the Coliseum at Los Angeles, as UCLA and Southern California collide to pick the western representative in the Rose Bowl. The Trojans have waited 12 long months to avenge the startling 20-16 setback suffered at the hands of UCLA in 1965. This week it will be a different story as the

And while all of this is going on THE GAME will be contested at Cambridge, where Harvard will entertain the Spartans of Michigan State, commanded by that fighting Irishman Duffy Daugherty.

THE PRICE WENT DOWN NEW YORK (AP) — An offer of $500,000 cash has been accepted for purchase of a Broadway playhouse that went on sale last year at twice that price.

Henry Miller's Theater, a 946-seat house which opened in 1918, is being added to the cross-country chain operated by David T. Nederlander of Detroit and his five sons. The family also owns the Palace here, plus theaters in Chicago and Detroit and plans to build others in Dallas, Houston, Atlanta and Phoenix.

Mrs. Gilbert Miller, owner of the property, said factors prompting acceptance of the offer included a pledge to keep the theater's name and to continue operating it for legit productions.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Thanksgiving Feasts Now Tempered With Caution

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D. Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

About 243 years elapsed between the first Thanksgiving celebrated by our Pilgrim fathers and the first proclamation of Thanksgiving as a national holiday by President Lincoln in 1863. During the interim, Thanksgiving was a hit-or-miss affair that depended on local governments with no uniform rule for determining the date.

The country has undergone vast changes since the days of the Pilgrims, none more noteworthy than the changes in our diet. Foods once considered strictly seasonal can now be bought either frozen or canned all year around and many foods are available to us that the Pilgrims never dreamed of. As a result, instead of being thankful that we have enough food to keep body and soul together, it is becoming increasingly necessary for us to be watchful that we don't stuff ourselves to the point of obesity.

We should be thankful, however, for greater scientific knowledge about healthful nutrition and for our awareness of vitamins—which the Pilgrims consumed without ever having heard of them. We should be thankful, too, that we are able to share our surpluses with countries where food shortages still exist. And finally we should be thankful for the Pilgrims themselves. They showed us that with courage, hard work and hope, even the most insurmountable problems can be met and overcome.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

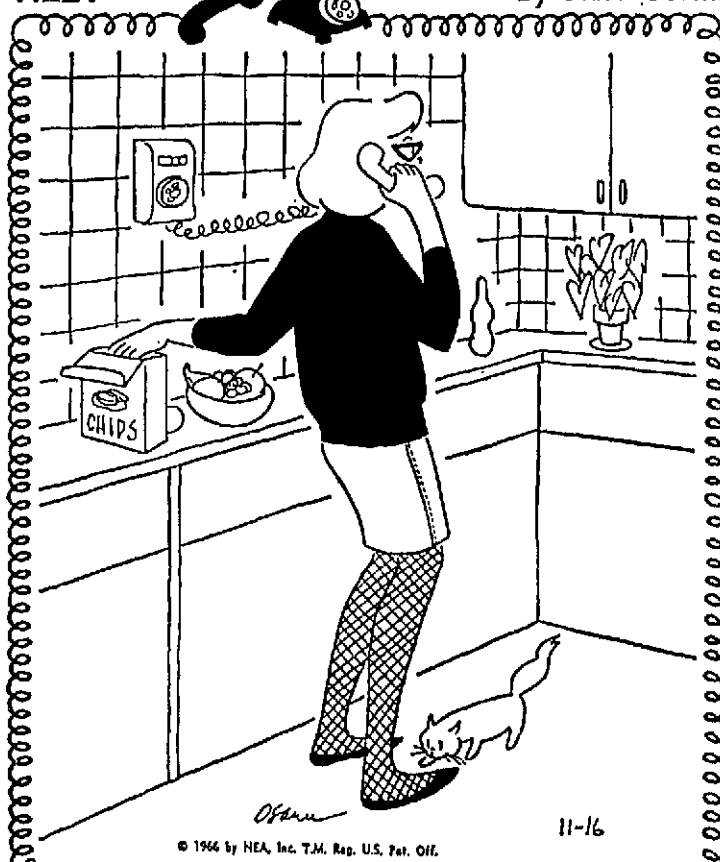

Quasistellar radio sources, a name shortened to quasars, have recently been discovered in space by astronomers. Estimated to be five or six billion light years from earth, quasars are the most brilliant and massive objects in the universe. They are also probably the oldest and most distant objects in the universe—receding from the earth at about 60,000 miles per second or one-third the speed of light.

Jim: "Here is a hand that almost caused a fight in Waco, Tex., last month. South and West were both experts, playing with weak partners."

Oswald: "The normal play at three no-trump is for East to rise with the ace of hearts and return the nine. South will take three clubs, leaving the high club in dummy; cash the ace-king of diamonds to see if the queen will drop, enter dummy with the last club and try the spade finesse. West will take his king and cash three heart tricks for down one. South will make the last trick with the ace of spades."

Jim: "That's just what happened at most tables. This South went down two. It seems that East huddled before playing the ace of hearts. Then, when he returned the nine, West said, 'Nice work.' South glared at West and said, 'I assume you hold the king of spades for that remark.' West replied, 'Now that you ask, I sure do.'"

Oswald: "West's first remark was wrong but South's question was a frightful breach of ethics. What happened?"

Jim: "South cashed the ace and king of diamonds first. West played the five and then the three while East dropped the ten and then the nine. Then South ran four clubs stopping in his own hand and West discarded a heart and the eight of spades. South threw West in with the queen of hearts. West cashed two more hearts, said 'Surprise!' and produced the seven of diamonds. Down two, instead of the usual one."

Oswald: "West certainly outsmarted South but South had no right to get mad. After his question about the king of spades he deserved anything that happened to him."

Jim: "The fight wasn't between West and South. North wanted to know just what sort of an expert South was."

Schmidt Is Credited for a Fine Job

Joe Schmidt, Detroit's man in the middle for 13 years, gets the credit for another fine job of linebacking for the Lions.

That's quite a trick when you consider that Schmidt hasn't tackled a man in anger since last season.

When Schmidt retired after last year, the Lions kept him in their organization as linebacking coach. His No. 1 student was Mike Lucci, the heir apparent to his job. And the way Lucci has come through makes you believe that Schmidt is as fine a teacher as he was a linebacker.

Lucci intercepted three Fran Tarkenton passes last Sunday, ran one back 53 yards for a touchdown and was named the National Football League's Defensive Player of the Week for his part in Detroit's 25-24 victory over Minnesota.

"It was just a combination of my being in the right place at the right time and our line's hard rush on Tarkenton," Lucci said later. "All three times I sensed where the ball was going and cut in front of the receiver."

Two of Lucci's interceptions set up field goals by Gary Yepremian and the other resulted in the touchdown.

When Schmidt announced his retirement, the Lions tried to change his mind and, failing that, got him to agree to stay on as linebacking coach. Lucci was his No. 1 project.

Kansas S. Looking for New Coach

MANHATTAN, Kan. (AP) — Kansas State officials said the search for a head football coach to replace Doug Weaver began immediately after he resigned Tuesday, they praised his dedication — then they stopped talking and so did Weaver.

H. B. (Bebe) Lee, K-State athletic director for 10 years, and Dean C. (Clyde) Jones, chairman of the athletic board, said a committee to screen candidates was being set up. A meeting of the athletic board was set for Monday.

Weaver dropped a curtain of silence after telling his squad of his decision. He canceled all his public appearances for the rest of the week including his regular press conference after the Oklahoma State game here Saturday.

Weaver, 35, a former Michigan State linebacker and Missouri assistant, has two years remaining on a three-year contract and Lee said an effort would be made to retain Weaver in another capacity.

Ironically, Weaver steps down at a time when his seven-year rebuilding program is showing signs of future promise. He has some of the best sophomores in the league and the freshman squad is the best ever.

K-State has an 0-8-1 record this season, with the last victory in 1964.

Weaver's best team was the 1964 club, 3-4 in Big Eight play and 3-7 for the season. His overall record is 8-59-1.

Hanratty and Raye Duel Saturday

NEW YORK (AP) — The quarterback duel between Terry Hanratty of Notre Dame and Jimmy Raye of Michigan State in Saturday's college football showdown at East Lansing, Mich., shapes up as a statistical standoff.

According to weekly NCAA figures released today, Hanratty and Raye are running neck-and-neck in offensive productivity.

Hanratty, a sophomore, stands 23rd in the nation in total offense and Raye, a junior, is 24th. Each has run for five touchdowns and their passing figures are strikingly similar.

Hanratty, who has thrown the ball more often than Raye, holds a .538 to .534 edge in completion percentage. Hanratty has completed 77 of 143 passes in eight games, Raye 55 of 103 in nine games.

Raye has tossed 10 touchdown passes, Hanratty eight. Raye leads the nation in yardage per pass attempt with a 9.4-yard average. Hanratty is third, with an 8.5-yard average, behind Bo Burris of Houston.

Hank Washington of West Texas State is the total offense leader for the third straight week. He has a 56-yard margin over runner-up Virgil Carter of Brigham Young.

Short Course in Income Tax Reports

J.O. KUMPE

A two-day income short course will be conducted by the Agricultural Extension Service with the technical part of being taught by Mr. L.D. Crenshaw of the Internal Revenue Service.

Calvin J. Caldwell, County Agent has announced that the school for Hempstead County will be held at the Southwest Branch Experiment Station on December 6 and December 7.

This will be one of a series of eight Area Income Tax Schools throughout the state of Arkansas in 1966. This service is for tax accountants, professional agricultural workers, farmers and small business owners.

This short course is apart of the Extension Farm Management Program which comes under the supervision of J. O. Kumpe, Extension Farm Management Specialist, in Little Rock.

This income tax short course has become a popular part of the Extension farm management program, mainly because of the talent and experience of its teachers.

Tax consultants and farmers who have not had the privilege of hearing Mr. Lewis D. Crenshaw, a certified public accountant who has 25 years experience with the Internal Revenue Service as a Field Auditor and who is an experienced teacher would mark their calendar now to attend this tax short course. Mr. Crenshaw has a way of simplifying Internal Revenue Service codes and explaining them so they have a useful meaning, says Mr. Caldwell.

Records are necessary for the farmer and small business owner to substantiate his tax return, to make profitable management decisions and to mark his business progress. Mr. Kumpe has 13 years service with the Agricultural Service in various capacities from assistant county agent to economist in marketing. He also has 20 years experience as the manager of a business. Mr. Kumpe now furnishes leadership to the Extension Farm Record program. Each enrollee will receive a free copy of the revised Arkansas Flexible Farm Record Book for his own use. Also, Internal Revenue Service publications will be available free for those who take the short course.

Lyricist Has New Fair Lady

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — Lyricist Alan Jay Lerner and his new "Fair Lady," Karen Gunderson, an assistant editor of Newsweek magazine, plan to live in New York.

Materials Just Disappear in Viet Nam

EDITOR'S NOTE—The United States is spending enormous sums of economic and military aid to South Viet Nam. What happens to it when it gets there? A study by An Associated Press team shows that millions of dollars are lost to profiteering, graft, and bribery.

This is the second of six articles on the problem.

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — One day recently, more than 400 bags of U.S.-supplied cement were flown to a province north of Saigon. About half of them, earmarked to build a school, vanished.

U.S. officials couldn't pry a plausible explanation from the Chan Thanh district chief, to whom the 200 missing bags were consigned.

So it was marked down as a case of probable illegal sale of U.S. aid goods.

The United States was the loser on two counts:

1. The American taxpayer is out the cost of the lost, strayed or stolen cement.

2. The battle to gain the confidence and support of peasants and villagers has suffered setback.

This is but one example of

Fights Draft to Fight for Wife's Life

DETROIT (AP) — Tom Michaels has told his draft board he can't fight for his country because he's fighting for his wife's life.

The 22-year-old spray painter at a truck plant is appealing the decision of Selective Service Board 303 in suburban Warren that he is 1A—qualified to enter military service immediately.

He lost a student deferment while he was at the bedside of his wife, Mary 23.

Her kidney failed Sept. 9, five days after their first wedding anniversary.

To stay alive, doctors said, Mrs. Michaels must have her blood filtered twice a week on an artificial kidney machine.

Mrs. Michaels said her husband must work to pay for her hospital care.

The young couple hopes to avoid a hospital bill of $10,000 a year by buying a $6,200 artificial kidney. Michaels would be trained to operate the machine. He already has made a $1,200 down payment.

"I can't operate the machine myself while I'm on it," Mrs. Michaels said, "I could pass out or something. It's just not safe."

She said Michaels is the only person in their families who could spend the 10 hours required to filter her blood through the artificial kidney.

The draft board revoked Michaels' student deferment after he dropped out of senior-year classes in electrical engineering at Lawrence Institute of Technology.

He was spending almost all his spare time at his wife's bedside for nine weeks at three hospitals. He also took three weeks off his $5,500-a-year job at the Dodge truck plant.

Dr. Eisle Eng, their family physician at Cleveland Clinic in Cleveland, Ohio, and their parish priest wrote to the draft board in October. They explained the seriousness of Mrs. Michaels' kidney failure and her need for the kidney device.

"The board said the letters weren't specific enough as to why he was needed at home," Mrs. Michaels said.

Last Monday, the doctors again wrote to Board 303.

"The doctors couldn't believe they had to write two letters," Mrs. Michaels said.

Mrs. Michaels said Rep. James G. O'Hara, D-Mich., had contacted Col. Arthur Holmes, state Selective Service director. There was no immediate indication what action would be taken on the case.

Pays $23,450 for Antique Autos

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Wilbur Christensen, a suburban highway contractor, paid $23,450 for four antique automobiles at an auction in Denver Tuesday.

His top purchases were $10,750 for a 1920 Pierce-Arrow and $8,500 for a 1922 Rolls-Royce Pall Mall phaeton. Christensen said that although he paid more for the Pierce-Arrow, he considers the Rolls-Royce the centerpiece in his 11-car collection.

Arthur G. Rippey, retired Denver advertising man, said the auction of his 30 veteran and antique automobiles, several carriages, assorted headlamps and horns brought $164,675 from other collectors. All the cars are in running condition.

what some officials concede is a widespread pattern.

It is a pattern of pilferage, diversion, black marketeering and corruption which adds millions of dollars to the cost of the U.S. military and economic effort in South Viet Nam.

Some such pattern is familiar in every way. However, the extent in Viet Nam seems unprecedented for the size of the conflict, even though only a minority of unscrupulous Vietnamese and Americans are involved.

Many details of how the chicanery works have been turned up by an Associated Press reporting team which made spot investigations and tapped official and unofficial sources from Viet Nam to Washington. No doubt much remains hidden.

Some U.S. officials say the full extent of the thievery and other wrongdoing will never be known.

Certain representatives of the United States Agency for International Development working in the provinces, have told congressional investigators that as much as 10 to 20 per cent disappeared by the time American-financed shipments of rice, building materials and other commodities reached them.

U.S. economic aid to South

Wednesday, November 16, 1966— Viet Nam ran over $715 million last year. It will be higher this year. Most, but not all, of this aid is given in the form of goods and equipment.

Precise figures on the losses are elusive, but based on the $715 million economic aid program and a PX supply inflow of some $150 million a year, a 2 per cent loss figure—which is suggested by most knowledgeable sources—would come to nearly half a million dollars daily.

Much of what the United States sends to this country, to prop up its economy and develop its resources, is producing positive results.

But there have been serious weaknesses in U.S. control, management and staffing of the American organizations supervising the aid.

Probably the weakest link in the whole chain has been the Vietnamese government machinery.

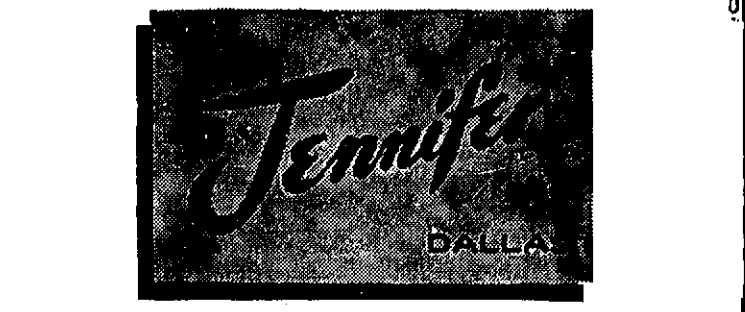

U.S. officials despair at the inefficiency of the Vietnamese bureaucrats in the customs service and other Saigon government divisions.

But more than that, there is strong suspicion of venality, bribery, kickbacks and corruption among Vietnamese government officials and businessmen.

Champion Papers and U.S. Plywood Complete Merger

One of the reasons why Champion Papers, Inc., hasn't come through with its bid on the big paper mill scheduled to be constructed on the site of the old Little River mill is that the Champion company is in the process of being merged with U.S. Plywood. The merger, which was announced last Monday, Nov.

Special interest attaches to this transaction because of its potential effect on the local economy, and the natural question is: which firm will be the survivor?

But the question doesn't apply in this case. Champion Papers, Inc., based in Hamilton, Ohio, and U.S. Plywood, New York, join equal partners, evidenced by the new name and the financial details. The consolidated firm will be named U.S. Plywood-Champion Papers, Inc.

All details as to stock exchanges have been completed, according to the Wall Street Journal, and the boards of directors of both companies are expected to ratify the merger in their next meetings in the middle of December.

The new industry is a welcome addition in any section — but twice as big as the old one. It represents the combined efforts of two giants in the field, Wall Street Journal's description of the two companies:

"Champion is a large producer of pulp, paper, and paperboard. U.S. Plywood makes softwood and hardwood plywood, decorative wood paneling, adhesive, and other wood-based building products."

Rural Mail Carriers to Mount Stock

Rural mail carriers from the Post Office will leave some stock survey cards along their routes beginning November 15. The cards will be distributed at home to farm patrons which means that every box will not get a card, Mr. Brannan said. It is, therefore, important for everyone who gets a card to return it out so that U.S.D.A. can have a true sample of the State's stock holdings.

Acts and figures secured in the survey are the basis of Arkansas and National Inventory estimates of livestock and poultry, size of pig and calf and a number of other time-consuming tasks. Producers and many use this information in their business decisions. Survey results will be widely distributed early in 1967 through Arkansas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service releases, newspapers, farm magazines, radio, and television. An annual survey has been an undertaking of the Post Office and Agriculture Departments since 1924.

Carriers assisting with the survey are:

Howell Turner Route 1
Helm Route 2
Davis Route 3
Elam Route 4

China's Neighbors Fear Power Struggle in Communist World

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

HONG KONG (AP) — Red China's neighbors shudder as they watch developments in the world of communism. For students of Communist trends, two main factors arouse apprehension — There is growing worry about the Soviet Union. Some qualified students of Communist affairs express fear that pressure from the U.S.S.R.'s own "hawks" is growing, perhaps to the extent of endangering the leadership of party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev and Premier Alexei N. Kosygin.

The men now ruling China and their supporters appear to believe implicitly in what their own propaganda says. While China's internal political struggle continues, the Kremlin watches for signs of an upheaval in Peking which might break the anti-Soviet course. Peking's leaders watch the Kremlin for signs of a neo-Stalin upheaval which might produce a more militant Soviet regime. The United States watches both.

And both Peking and Moscow watch the United States for any hint of diminished public support for the administration's Viet Nam policy. It all adds up to increasing tension.

Red China's propaganda insists that the United States eventually will attack the China mainland that Viet Nam is just a prelude. An attack is probably a distant prospect for Chinese leaders, but to them still inevitable unless they change their course. They show no signs of changing their course.

With its inter alia political turmoil and economic weakness, Red China is not courting a clash with American power. It is being cautious. But if its leaders are convinced that the clash will come this could lead Peking to actions which might have serious consequences.

Peking has shown that it wants the war in Viet Nam to continue indefinitely and that it is willing to tolerate a certain amount of risk to that end.

Gemini 12 Astronauts to Cape Kennedy

By HOWARD BENEDICT

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Gemini 12's astronauts fly to Cape Kennedy today to begin a long series of discussions on their record-shattering space flight, a mission that opened the gate to the Apollo man-to-the-moon program.

Navy Capt. James A. Lovell Jr. and Air Force Maj. Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. planned to leave the aircraft carrier Wasp about 9 a.m. (EST) for a two-hour flight to this spaceport where they started the final Gemini journey last Friday.

The astronauts will remain at Cape Kennedy until Friday or Saturday, discussing their space flight in general terms. Then they will fly to the Manned Spacecraft Center, Houston, Tex., for several days of detailed briefings.

After that they'll hold a news conference in Houston.

Lovell, 38, and champion space-walker, Aldrin, 36, brought the Gemini program to a triumphant end Tuesday when their space chariot splashed into the Sargasso Sea area of the Atlantic Ocean, about 700 miles southeast of Cape Kennedy.

The landing was another example of the precision America has reached in its man-in-space programs. For the fourth straight time, a Gemini craft landed close enough to its recovery ship for the descent and splashdown to be relayed live by television to U.S. homes.

A helicopter put the spacemen on the deck of the aircraft carrier Wasp 30 minutes later and they strode jauntily across a red carpet, acknowledging the cheers of hundreds of sailors.

Stepping to a microphone, command pilot Lovell said: "We're both happy to end the Gemini program with a success. I hope we can continue to do as well in the space program."

Aldrin added: "We tried real hard to please everybody. I hope we've come half-way there."

Then they went below decks for extensive physical examinations, which they passed easily.

"They are in excellent condition and are in extremely good spirits," reported NASA physician Dr. Kenneth Beers. "There are no apparent problems."

Later, Aldrin said that walking in space was "a lot more than I expected it to be."

U.S. pilots flew only 25 strike and reconnaissance missions over North Viet Nam Tuesday, one of the lightest days of attacks in recent months.

In the Tay Ninh sector where Operation Attleboro continued, a unit of the 1st Infantry Division reported destroying a Viet Cong camp and finding 15 enemy dead. A U.S. spokesman said they were killed by air strikes by F100 Super Sabre jets.

Other units of the 1st Division uncovered 490 tons of rice in two caches to bring the total rice captured in Operation Attleboro to a near record 2,000 tons.

U.S. forces have reported killing 965 Communist soldiers since the operation to flush out the Viet Cong 9th Division started Oct. 15. An estimated 30,000 U.S. troops are pushing the hunt.

Planes Rain Heavy Blow on Viet Cong

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Ground fighting flared anew in Communist War Zone C today and U.S. planes rained heavy blows on the Viet Cong stronghold 60 miles northwest of Saigon.

Giant B52 bombers struck in embattled Tay Ninh Province for the seventh straight day, following up 104 strikes on Viet Cong positions by smaller tactical bombers.

The B52 raid at midday came about the same time a battalion of 600 to 700 men of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division made contact with a Viet Cong force of unknown size.

The outcome of the clash was not yet reported by U.S. headquarters.

Ground action elsewhere was light and sporadic. Bad weather over North Viet Nam once again cut heavily into air strikes.

The U.S. Navy disclosed that it had sunk or damaged 299 Communist cargo barges off the coast of North Viet Nam in the first 20 days of a new campaign — called Traffic Cop — to choke off seaborne infiltration into South Viet Nam.

Adm. Roy L. Johnson, commander in chief of the Pacific Fleet, said Traffic Cop has had a "substantial effect" on the Communist supply line.

He reported U.S. destroyers sank 155 barges and damaged 144 more from Oct. 25 through Nov. 13. Previously, the Navy tried to cut the Communist sea supply line by intercepting traffic south of the 17th Parallel dividing North and South Viet Nam.

In other developments, Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's government announced a Cabinet reshuffle and U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge denied reports that he is quitting his post.

The Ky government said it would swear in four new Cabinet ministers today to replace men who quit as a result of the dispute between northern and southern factions in the government.
